

THIS ONE'S FOR THE FELLOWS

A SONIC SALUTE TO THE YOUNG FRESH FELLOWS

"The 'Fellows are probably the most enjoyable rock band in the world" - Robyn Hitchcock

The Young Fresh Fellows are the best band ever. Either you get it or you don't. If you think NRBQ is just a funny band, The Replacements were sloppy, John Coltrane a noodler, Roger Miller a goofball, Scruffy The Cat a long name or Carl Wilson a brother, you've missed the point. Sorry. On the other hand, you may be one who realized these people possess a telling insight which allows listeners to step into the extraordinary existence of ordinary lives and systems. Either way, listen to the two versions* of "Teenage Dogs In Trouble" here. We think you'll agree — they draw that final distinction between addition and subtraction, wouldn't you say, eh?

The songs included in this love letter were chosen from across The Young Fresh Fellows catalog by the artists who recorded them. We think these interpretations capture the brilliance of the songs and shine light on the genius of the songwriting by people inside, outside and around the lives, loves and happiness of The Young Fresh Fellows compound. You're forced to revisit the originals and forced to damn yourself for not including "Rotation" on your Best of 89 mix tape. You can't go back. Sorry again.
